2. Title and purpose of the project

What is the title of the research project?

CBS Maritime, Ph.d., International Relations, Capture or Autonomy in Decision-Making of International Organizations

What is the purpose of the research project? What are possible secondary purposes of the research project?

An analysis of the participation of interests including non-state interests in negotiations and the decision-making process in the IMO, and the determination of which actors or elements can determine outcomes.
describe when process rather than power may determine outcomes

3. Collected data and storage of data

What sensitive personal data do you process in your research project?

None of the above. Political opinions are registered, but they are not personal opinion but stances that are professionally maintained as part of each individual's profession.
I do not consider the data collected to be sensitive.

What personal data on other purely private matters do you process?

None of the above. Behavior by negotiators and their principals may be disclosed as less than moral since one object is to discover whether 'corporate capture' of the IMO takes place.

You selected "other" as answer to the previous question. Please state what personal data on purely private matters is processed.

Question not answered.

How is the data collected? Where is the data collected?

Data is collected via the IMO web-site where documents are publicly available, via closed parts of the website accessible only to participants and through observation of negotiations in which the researcher participates.
Interview data is collected and will be anonymised - the anonymised interviews may be stored separately if used in the research

Where is the data stored?

Data in raw form is stored on a laptop. with occasional back-up on an external drive. Data as cited and used is stored online in dropbox and ordered with Zotero

4. Categories of registered persons and type of information

What categories of registered persons do you process information about? And what types of information?

- Information on the following categories of people is processed:

Names of delegates and their association with a delegation.

Where available LinkedIn information about previous and present employment

Some news articles and official websites listing information about previous and present employment of delegates

What type of information do you process regarding each category of registered persons?

I am noting when and how long a delegation (person) speaks, and the content,

I will note any changes in position over time and which delegations may agree

5. Recipients in Denmark

Will your data be transferred to or shared with recipients in Denmark?

- No

Please provide name, address, and contact details of the data recipients.

Question not answered.

6. Foreign Recipients

Will your data be transferred to or shared with recipients outside Denmark?

- No

If your data is supposed to be transferred to or shared with recipients outside Denmark, you will first have to notify the Danish Data Protection Agency about this. The notification form to be used to notify the Danish Data Protection Agency can be found here on the Agency's website.

Please note: Transfer of information to a recipient outside Denmark must not be completed without the prior approval from the Danish Data Protection Agency.
